Thanks for volunteering to review submissions to the MBR. <https://www.informingscience.org/>

We know that your schedule is busy and so want to alert you that your review of Muma Business Review PID 8692, The Magic Spark Model: The Future of Leadership Development is now two days past due. It was due 9 Jan 2023.

I am able to serve as an organizational and quality consultant for academic institutions thanks to my experience over the past 30 years in Malaysia, the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, and Jordan. In addition to establishing new units, creating organizational structures, and designing operational policies and procedures, I have experience working on strategic planning and development. My experience with academic accreditation in the Gulf states of the UAE and Saudi Arabia from 2001 to 2018 as a faculty member, chair of the business department, MBA director, dean of the business school, and chairman and member of quality assurance committees.

I guided my colleague as the dean and the chairman of department to align the PLO's and CLO's to comply with the National Framework qualifications and quality standards in UAE KSA and Jordan.

I managed all relevant forms and documents for creating new master and Bachelor programs in UAE and Jordan, including market analysis, benchmarking against competitors, study plan, syllabuses, and analysis of employer demand for graduates of the proposed program, estimated enrollments, program structure and design, a time-phased hiring plan, estimates of the additional costs and sources of funding in order to prepare and submit new graduate and undergraduate programs in industrial management, digital marketing, BIT, and strategic planning and making leaders. The fifth international conference, "roadmap to sustainable development," in July 11–12, 2020 as president to organize and oversee it at Amman Arab University.

Comments:

1. A assessment of the 40 previous semesters' teaching loads reveals an average teaching load of 12 credit hours per week.
2. I instructed 20 graduate courses and 18 distinct undergraduate courses. The topics and skill levels on the list are quite nicely diversified.
3. Graduate level courses typically have 25 students enrolled, compared to an average of 30 for undergraduate courses.
4. All of the courses have a project component that requires students to work in groups of three to five people, two exams, homework assignments, and quizzes. The project in managerial courses can be either theoretical or practical, and the students often report their findings at the conclusion of each semester. Some courses mandate that students read a related.
3. I used to invite guest lecturers from related sectors to my graduate seminars so they could share their real-world expertise with my students.
4. With all necessary modifications to course delivery and organization, we implemented e-learning and blended learning as new teaching methodologies in the year 2020.

TEACHING: Methodology and Documentation/ e-learning and classical classes

- I begin a lecture by presenting the topic, either by drawing on real-world examples or by posing a question that will get the students to consider the subject at hand.
- I sporadically share anecdotes about foreign case studies, actual examples from the UAE business world, the origins of some managerial principles, or some of my own experiences that are relevant to the topic.
- I advise pupils to collaborate and talk in groups or pairs. Students can thus benefit from mutual learning and teaching.
- To encourage the kids to practice critical thinking about the issue, I attempt to conclude with a task or a difficult question.
- I employ web-based management systems that are relevant to other countries, and I urge my pupils to visit these websites.

TEACHING: Development of Courses & Modern Teaching Methods

I created all the course materials myself because several of my courses were offered as e-learning courses for the first time at UAEU and other universities. Examples include

1. In the years 2013, 2014, the MBA program developed the delivery method for the MGT 603 course.
2. "Organisational Behavior," 2004/2005 (Includes Items such as new courses designed; major changes to existing courses; first time adaptations of courses to video-conferencing; Website development; major changes in course delivery methods).
3. In accordance with the UAEU's new advanced educational policy, the course "Developing Values and the Islamic System in Business" will be made available digitally starting in 2004-2005.
4. In 2003–2004, the course "Developing Business Research Methods" will be offered online and aligned with UAEU's new advanced educational philosophy.
5. 2002, developing fundamentals of management course to be available in a digital form and fit with new advanced educational policy in UAEU.

Since WebCt and BlackBoard were adopted by UAEU, I have used them in all of my courses to communicate with the students, post course materials, hold online exams, and post student grades. I create the course materials for each course I teach and create customized related Power Point slides for all undergraduate and graduate courses. In ADU and other universities, I have already uploaded my course materials to websites or other online spaces, and I keep in touch with my students by email or other means

TEACHING: Contribution to the development of academic programs, curricula and courses

1. 2014, developing the Oral and comprehensive exam in the MBA program, ALHOSN university
2. 2014, participating in setting a proposal to develop the business administration program.
3. 2013, submitting a proposal to develop the MBA program, and the delivery strategy.
4. 2013, 2014, developing the delivery mode of MGT 603 course in the MBA program.
5. I have contributed to develop the teaching system in the college of business in the UAEU to be compatible with the e-learning process
6. I provided continues suggestions to develop the courses I am teaching in ADU.

TEACHING: Interaction with students/develop their skills/enhance self-learning capabilities

1. 2014 and 2013, inviting guest speakers to strategic management classes.
2. In all my courses for the third year and above and the MBA courses, I ask the student to conduct field related study.
3. During my regular classes, I engage my students through challenging questions and solving problems in small groups and on the board.
4. In the advanced courses, the interaction with the students is more intense, I have to interact with them throughout their projects. The students are encouraged to take initiatives in finding solutions to the problems they encounter in their projects. They are also encouraged to sharpen their presentation skills.

TEACHING: Supervision of hands-on training/projects/

1. 2018- current time, I am supervising/supervised more than 30 master students
2. 2017-2018, I have supervised 40 students in their graduation internship program, Aldar University College
3. 2013, and 2014 I have supervised College of business student's practical training (internship).
4. I have supervised COBA students in ADU practical training during summer Internship 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010
5. I have supervised 25 students in their graduation projects in the capstone course. These projects are in the form of managerial applications to problems related to the UAE.
6. I have given different seminars on different managerial subjects to UAEU students

TEACHING: Dissemination of teaching practices/methodologies/ at the Departmental, College or University levels

1. I have played a significant role in training faculty members in the business department in the UAEU and other universities I worked with to disseminate the use of Black Board and new related applications as a teaching tool in their classes.

TEACHING: Other

My interdisciplinary background, which I've developed over the years through teaching in various programs, interacting with various academic environments, and working with the business world for consulting or project implementation, has helped me to transfer my knowledge in a very fluid manner and has given me a better understanding of different types of students. Due to this, the students I taught throughout my academic career gave me good evaluations. For instance, students at Aldar University College, ECT, AAU, ALHOSN University, ADU, and the UAE University have repeatedly rated me as a top instructor in terms of information transfer, explanation clarity, punctuality, organization, and fair evaluation.

Self-development in teaching:

Work hard to develop my teaching skills by attending the following workshops:

- 1-2013, AACSB International Middle East and Africa Annual Conference, Dubai-UAE, 21–22 October.
 - 2-2013, AACSB Membership/Accreditation and business education in the GCC. AACSB Information Session held at the University of Sharjah in March 10, 2013.
 - 3-2012, The AACSB International Information Session on Sunday, June 3rd at Abu Dhabi University.
